My Easter holiday recount

In the Easter holidays I kept myself very busy by doing a variety of things. I thought the 2 weeks would be very boring but they turned out to be quite fun, despite not being able to go into the outside world. At the start of the holidays we celebrated my 11th birthday, it was very sunny outside so we went out and sat in the blazing sun, we also talked to family and friends over the phone and helped with lambing. Throughout the next few days we did many 1 and 2 hour walks with Luna which tired her out and we also attempted to give her a haircut, it went ok for our first try. I talked to many friends across the phone and whilst picking up the phone on my birthday the camera got hit by a canon of pink, green and blue ribbons, like a rainbow and a girl with funny glasses appeared on the screen (Millie) as well as many other friends. Throughout the week the start was the most interesting, a couple of days before my birthday we watched a sheep who couldn't stand up lamb triplets, we thought they were all going to die but they all survived with one dying a few days later, I found this very inspirational as the sheep could not stand up. She now continues to not get on her feet but gives it a good go from the medicine she is taking.
